I remember being a young boy and watching Michael Jordan play basketball. I was amazed by his skill and determination. He never gave up, even when the odds were stacked against him. He always fought until the end. And he always came out on top.

Michael Jordan taught me the importance of perseverance. He showed me that if you never give up, you can achieve anything you set your mind to. He also taught me the importance of resilience. He showed me that even when you fail, you can always get back up and try again.

Another great who has had a profound impact on my life is Nelson Mandela. Mandela spent 27 years in prison for fighting against apartheid in South Africa. But he never gave up on his dream of a free and equal society. He always remained hopeful, even when the situation seemed hopeless.

Nelson Mandela taught me the importance of integrity. He showed me that even in the face of adversity, it is important to stand up for what you believe in. He also taught me the importance of forgiveness. He showed me that even those who have wronged you can be redeemed.

The greats have changed my life in many ways. They have taught me the importance of perseverance, resilience, and integrity. They have inspired me to dream big and to never give up on my goals. And they have shown me that anything is possible if you set your mind to it
